Founded in 2014, the Journal of Global Justice and Public Policy (JGJPP) is a Christian academic journal dedicated to scholarly publications on all issues effecting global justice both in domestic and international law. The Journal features articles, notes, case comments, and reviews submitted by prominent scholars, practitioners, and students. In constant pursuit of superior content, JGJPP actively solicits manuscripts, both secular and religious, which focus on international law.

EDITORIAL POLICY STATEMENT

The Journal of Global Justice and Public Policy is bi-annual publication under the authority of Regent University School of Law. The views expressed in the Journal are those of individual contributors and do not necessarily reflect the view of the editorial board, Regent University School of Law, its administration and faculty, or Regent University.

Subscriptions: If you are interested in subscribing to, purchasing advertising space from, or making a tax-deductible contribution to the Journal, please address all correspondence to the official business address listed at the bottom of this page.
